BUILDING CLOSING

March 19 Gary Garrison

March 26 Danny Stewart

Let me mention of couple of highlights. First, this week, Marilyn Kerley is on mission to Jordan. She is working with a mission team providing a retreat experience for missionary families stationed there. We look forward to her return and hearing more about her ministry work. We're praying for you, Marilyn!

Also, the April 15 Egg Drop event is coming. Let me encourage you to be praying that the Lord will bless our work and those in our community who will gather for a great time together. Having invited our community, we have the opportunity to extend hospitality and friendship in the name of the Lord. I also encourage you to sign up as a volunteer. The sign up sheets are in the main foyer and there are all kinds of ways you can serve. We're already building a strong team of volunteers, but we still need YOU! Thanks in advance for your involvement.

See you Sunday,
Brian

There is always something working behind the scenes. Our worship together is more than just the music we hear and the songs we sing. Worship is what we offer to God from our hearts, and how we respond to his love and grace. As our hearts prepare in this Lenten season for the glory of the Resurrected Christ, there are other aspects of our worship ministry working behind the scenes. On any given Sunday morning, we always have two technicians in the sound booth that take care of our audio and video needs. Those behind-the-scene guys are Bart Smith, Bryan Riley, Landon Clark, and Michael Lee Crenshaw. We have recently bought a new microphone for the pulpit since our last one has "given up the ghost." We have also been saving up for a new computer in the sanctuary specifically for video and other media. MediaShout is software that presents several types of media smoothly and professionally. We'll use this for videos used in worship and special musical presentations like "Grace That Amazes" on Sunday evening, April 9. We are always growing in our expression of worship as a church. You are always welcome to participate in the various aspects of our worship ministry. And donations are always welcome too.

Blessings,
Elijah
